

Al-Zahrawi University College sustainability/climate action policy

Al-Zahrawi University College has executed a number of initiatives to address energy consumption and climate change. The college has used several policies, including an energy consumption reduction program, a renewable energy use policy, and a greenhouse gas reduction program.

To increase energy efficiency, Al-Zahrawi University College has implemented several plans focused on minimizing energy consumption. These plans include increasing the number of energy-efficient appliances, and investing in renewable energy sources.

POLICY:

- Policy summary: This policy serves to control all construction to ensure compliance with established standards and regulations.
- Renewable Energy Initiative: Al-Zahrawi University College is committed to reach a target of 50% renewable energy by 2030.
- Energy Conservation: Al-Zahrawi University College promotes energy conservation idea among its students and staff.
- Engagement of Qualified Experts: Only professionals will be engaged in the design of sustainable buildings, ensuring the adherence to the best regulations in sustainability and environmental responsibility.